RYUYA & KAORU

2015 . 7 . 17

True love is a durable fire, in the mind ever burning, never ick old, never dead from itself never turning.

Kind words can be short and easy to speak, but their echoes are truly endless.

*And at their fall his eyes beneath grew hers and with his foot and with his wing-feathers
he swept the spring the water
my heart is drouth*

No peevish winter wind shall chill
No sullen tropic sun shall wither
The roses in the rose-garden which is ours and ours only

A memorial day

You have a nice day and beautiful memory.

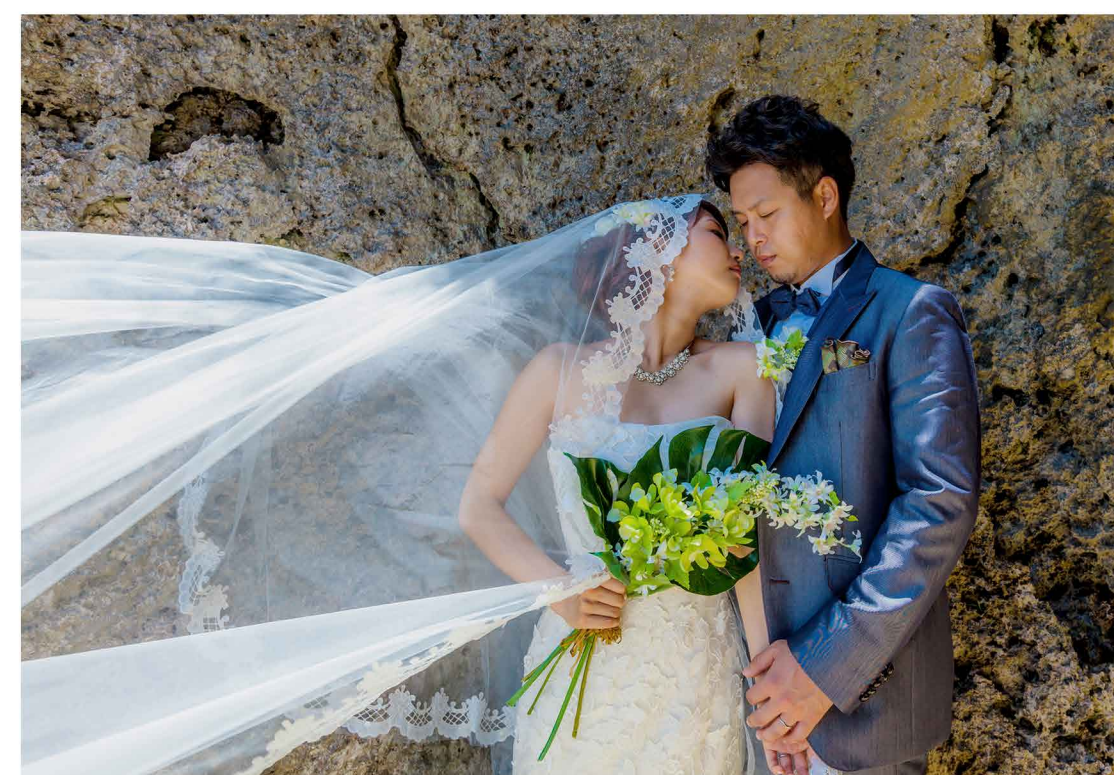

We had dreams and hopes From now, we'll make them come true.

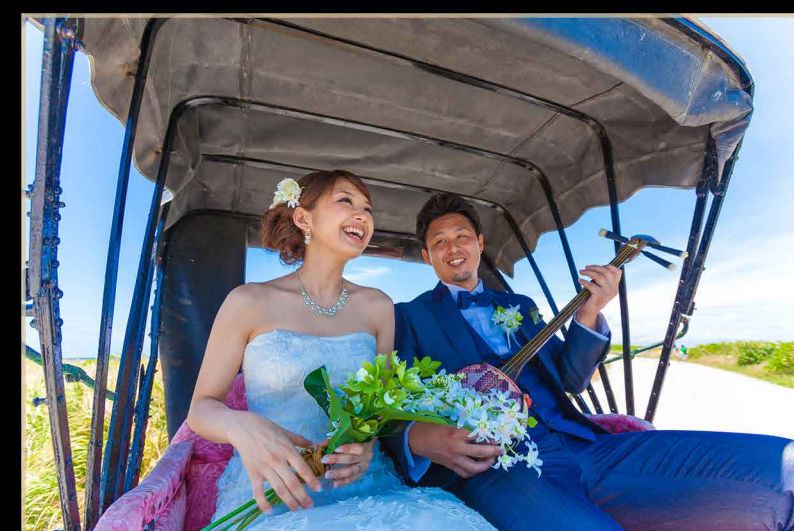

*Cherish
the Moment*

From these glorious moments

*P*assionate love relentlessly twists a cord Under my heart and spreads deep mist on my eyes,stealing the unguard brauns from my head.

May the special moments of today bring you special memories
